European Workshop

Chronic Cough
in Children and Adolescents

Welcome to the 1st European Workshop on Pediatric Bronchiectasis and Chronic Cough in Children and Adolescents

A decade after the first World Bronchiectasis Conference in Hannover (2016), the Bronchiectasis community has evolved into a global movement with scientists, researchers, and clinicians dedicated to improving the management of this complex disease. Over the past ten years, bronchiectasis has gained significant attention, with international registries enhancing our understanding of its burden and variations.

Updated guidelines have established care standards, new clinical trials have explored anti-inflammatory and anti-infective treatments, and advancements in airway clearance, physiotherapy, digital health, imaging, and microbiome research are changing how we prevent and manage exacerbations. Notably, the patient voice now plays a crucial role in shaping research and service delivery.

Recent developments have also highlighted the pediatric aspect of bronchiectasis. The Child Bear Network has created an international registry documenting over 1,000 cases of children with bronchiectasis and chronic cough, leading experts to emphasize the need for tailored diagnosis and treatment strategies for this age group.

The upcoming workshop aims to foster collaboration and discussion among the global Bronchiectasis Community to address new challenges and innovations in managing the condition in children and adolescents.

We invite you to join us in this important initiative for the future of our young patients and their families.

Sincerely,

Dr. Ahmad Kantar (EWPBC Chair)
